Survey Responses Sona stores.

Sona allows researchers to create and administer surveys directly within the online pool website. It then stores students’ responses to these surveys. Because this system is significantly less attractive than external systems (namely, Surveymonkey.com, PsychSurveys.com, and Qualtrics.com – all of which provide encrypted protocols, and encrypted data storage), no one uses it. However, in light of recent concerns that data may not be sufficiently secured on Sona’s servers, we have changed our policy so that no one is allowed to use it to collect data unless their study is deemed exempt by our IRB. If a stricter policy (i.e., no one can use it all all) is required, then we can accommodate that as well.
