

Psychology Field Study Program

Are you interested in exploring a career path while also helping out our Santa Cruz community? All interested juniors and seniors in good academic standing who have completed PSYC 100 are invited to attend an info session to learn more about the Psychology Field Study Program and the various internships available for the summer/fall and fall/winter cohorts! All sessions will take place via Zoom. The link to the field study application will be shared with all attendees.

Monday, April 22, 2:40-3:40PM

Tuesday, April 23, 1:30-2:30PM

Wednesday, April 24, 10:45-11:45AM

Applications for Summer/Fall 2024 and Fall 2024/Winter 2025 cohorts are due by 8AM on Wednesday, May 1st!

For more info, visit: <https://psychology.ucsc.edu/undergraduate/field-study>. Field study is a 5-unit upper division psychology course (PSYC 193) taken twice on a P/NP basis. One quarter of PSYC 193 counts as an upper division elective for both the Psychology and Cognitive Science majors. Two quarters meets the advanced course requirement for the Intensive concentration.
